DO NOT TRAVEL ADVISORY

Snow, ice, falling trees and downed wires are severely impacting roads throughout the Santa Cruz Mountains.

Residents are being asked to cancel all travel except in cases of emergency. Public safety and road crews are significantly strained and rescues or other assistance may not be possible should travelers become stuck, trapped or otherwise need assistance.

The National Weather Service expects cold weather to persist through the weekend. Libraries and other public facilities may be used to warm up, use public internet services or charge personal devices if residents are being impacted by outages. Please call ahead to confirm hours as some locations may be impacted by inclement weather. For a list of branch libraries, please visit <https://www.santacruzpl.org/branches/>.

The Santa Cruz County Emergency Operations Center is activated to monitor storm activity, coordinate support to agencies responding to the storm and help meet community needs.
